

Presenter Bios

Energy Efficiency and Healthy Food Retail

Danny Isaacs: Danny Isaacs has been working with the Mountain Association for Community economic Development (MACED) in the enterprise development program since 2006. He graduated from Berea College with a degree in business administration and an emphasis in accounting. He began as a business development analyst and is currently serving as the project specialist representing the Berea office. He facilitates loan requests and technical assistance engagements for 22 counties in the western portion of MACED's 54-county service area. Over the last three years Danny has taken the lead in the development of MACED's Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy lending program. Danny's other responsibilities include identifying regional partners and opportunities to assist in the development of small businesses and nonprofits in Appalachia.

Marten Jenkins: Marten R. Jenkins, Jr., President and CEO, Natural Capital Investment Fund, Inc.
Current affiliations: Member, West Virginia Small Business Development Center Advisory Board. Member, CEI Capital Management LLC. Member, West Virginia Manufacturing Extension Partnership Board. Past affiliations: Research Associate, World Bank; Volunteer Agricultural Extension Agent, Philippine Department of Agriculture, United States Peace Corps. Education: M.E.M., Environmental Management, Duke University. B.A., Economics and Administrative Science, Colby College.